—Testing I have done:
After starting up the server and starting localhost operation, in order to see if the web works on different devices other than the computer than the localhost server runs on, I tried to open the webpage on my iPad and iPhone.
—Click on the classes in the list and enter the year I want the class to be appeared at and to see after my operation if the class shows up at the right place.

—How did I ensure the code works every time any changes is made :
I also setup a server on my another computer and put the entire folder at which the code is stored and run the server to see if the changes are applied to the webpage.